

A Message From Leadership

We have been looking forward to putting this together for a while, and we are glad it is finally here - welcome to the first edition of the Southwest Construction Services quarterly newsletter. More than anything, we want to recognize the people who make SCS what it is - our partners, employees, and friends. Your trust, support, and relationships have helped shape who we are, and we are truly grateful.

This newsletter is one way we hope to stay connected by sharing company news, project highlights, milestones, and the people behind it all. We have a lot going on and even more to look forward to. Thank you for being part of the journey.

With appreciation,
Jason M. Taylor
Sr. EVP Business Development

→ Featured Project: Sunset Ampitheatre

McKinney, TX · GC: Crossland Construction · $300M · 20,000-seat venue · SCS scope: above & below grade waterproofing

The Sunset Amphitheater is a $300 million, 20,000-seat open-air venue currently under construction in McKinney near U.S. Highway 75 and State Highway 121, developed through a public-private partnership with the City of McKinney. The world-class facility is designed for year-round use and will feature luxury Fire Pit Suites, The Aikman Club, and the flexibility to host both large-scale concerts and smaller events. Southwest Construction Services is proud to be working with Crossland Construction Company on the project, handling the above and below-grade waterproofing on this landmark project, work that is critical to protecting the integrity of a structure built to stand for generations. Once complete, the Sunset Amphitheater is set to become one of North Texas' premier live entertainment destinations, and SCS is honored to have a hand in making it happen.

→ Client Quote

"You don't have to babysit them. Their numbers are competitive, but what really matters is having a partner you trust, one you know can do the job and shares the same commitment to safety. That culture alignment is what makes the partnership with SCS seamless."

→ Estimators Team Spotlight

Meet the team that makes it all possible before a single drop of waterproofing hits the ground. The SCS Waterproofing Estimating team is a seven-person group, including a Director of Preconstruction, an Estimating Coordinator, and five Estimators. Their job starts long before boots are on site: reviewing specs and drawings, identifying scopes of work, and accounting for items that are often missed or incorrectly detailed in the plans. Experience is everything in this division. Waterproofing scopes, especially below-grade systems and air barriers, are complex, and it takes deep product and manufacturer knowledge to bid them correctly. The team covers every project type imaginable: schools, data centers, hospitals, stadiums, high-rises, and everything in between. No job is too big, too small, too simple, or too complex. As they put it: if the customer wants it bid, they can do it. All the success in the waterproofing division starts here.

→ Safety Tip of the Quarter: Beat the Heat

REMEMBER THE THREE KEY STEPS:

1. Hydrate – Drink water frequently throughout the day, even if you don't feel thirsty.
2. Rest – Take scheduled breaks in shaded or air-conditioned areas.
3. Watch – Look out for signs of heat illness in yourself and your coworkers.

WARNING SIGNS OF HEAT EXHAUSTION:

- Heavy sweating
- Dizziness or headache
- Muscle cramps
- Nausea
- Weakness or fatigue

→ Safety Standown:

As part of Construction Safety Week, Southwest Construction Services held a company-wide Safety Stand-Down to reinforce our commitment to keeping every employee safe—every job, every day. The stand-down gave our teams the opportunity to pause, discuss important safety topics, share best practices, and recommit to looking out for one another on every project. Safety isn't just a policy at SCS—it's a core value that guides everything we do. Thank you to everyone who participated and continues to make safety a top priority.

→ Construction Career Day

Our team had the opportunity to participate in Construction Career Day, where we connected with students interested in exploring careers in the construction industry. Throughout the day, we shared information about the many career paths available at Southwest Construction Services, answered questions, and gave students a firsthand look at the rewarding opportunities our industry has to offer. It was exciting to see so many young people eager to learn, ask questions, and discover the possibilities that construction offers. We're proud to invest in the next generation of skilled professionals and appreciate everyone who helped make the event a success!
